LAST ITALIANS BEING CHASED FROM GREECE LOSING MANY GUNS

Greeks Now Fighting Almost Entirely on Albanian Soil With Both Italy's Main Bases Under Threat of Capture—Tanks in Koriza Sector Captured or Destroyed

ATHENS, Nov. 21 (P).—British and Greek planes dropped sacks of canned meat and bread tonight to Greek troops units which had advanced so far into the Albanian mountains behind the retreating Italians that truck transport could not be operated effectively.

The Greeks reported from the front that they had first thought they were being bombed, since the food sacks were dropped without parachutes.

Simultaneously with this disclosure, a Government spokesman predicted that probably by tomorrow "there will not be a single Italian left on Greek territory."

FINDS TIES WITH NAZIS

The nightly communiqué of the Greek high command announced the capture of fifteen Italian guns—seven of them heavy artillery pieces—four anti-aircraft guns, many howitzers, dozens of machine guns, and materials, foodstuffs and fuel depots.

Greek bombers participated in attacks along the battle line.

The Greeks reported earlier they had placed both of Italy's main Albanian bases under threat of capture and that they were fighting almost entirely on Albanian soil.

A Greek column in the coastal sector of the front was reported to be within six miles of Argirocastro, and, to the northeast, the Greeks said their armies were at the outskirts of Koriza.

Argirocastro and Koriza are the fifth and third cities of Albania, in population, and they are equally important in military rule. It was Argirocastro, a town of 10,836 population, that the Italians based their drive into Greece three and a half weeks ago. There they assembled materials to supply their armies. Now the Greeks say they are menacing those stores.

Highway Programme Urged in Assembly As Debate Proceeds

Improvement of Road Links Stressed as Initial Requirement to Resumption of Tourist Travel and Dollar Imports—Rowell Report Argued

THE British Columbia Legislature pushed ahead in double sittings yesterday to bring the budget debate one day nearer to its close. At the afternoon sitting, Louis LeBourdais (Liberal, Cariboo) and Colin Cameron (C.C.F., Comox) were heard, and second reading given to a number of bills, as elsewhere recorded. Once again the House heard an appeal for a large scale highway construction programme and again a rejection of some phases of the Rowell report, as debate proceeded.

LOUIS LeBOURDAIS

Mr. LeBourdais, urged the Province to launch a large-scale programme of road construction; saying this would close many gaps in existing highways and improve fifteen border connections with the United States. Roads, he argued, were productive assets, and would remain after the war. Compared with liquor profits of $4,571,000, and income taxes of $3,124,000 in 1939-40, the province had secured benefit from $30,000,000 spent by tourists in that year.

In the Cariboo and other Interior areas there were gaps of varying distances in roads—already constructed, some being ninety-seven miles long. Of the fifteen road links with the United States, only one had received serious attention this year, and that the extent of $160,000. With Canada at war, tourist revenues were needed, and road outlays would have to be made to improve the present condition of the main highways, Mr. LeBourdais continued.

Farmers in the North were appreciative of assistance from the Department of Agriculture, and grateful to the Government for permission to work out their taxes on the highways. Much work, he added, had been done in this way. Both for military and civil reasons the Province should put its roads in order; while scenic possibilities of Wells Gray Park and other recreation grounds remained almost wholly undeveloped.

The Rowell Commission had been "a little too generous with British Columbia's resources," possibly at the insistence of poorer provinces.

The addition of an electrical manufacturing department was announced this week by Kendall Radio Laboratories, Ltd. Save money by buying direct from this manufacturer.

To Assume Duties of Full-Time Chaplain

REV. FATHER A. B. WOOD

WHO will leave his parish work at Our Lady Queen of Peace Church, Esquimalt, to assume the duties of a full-time naval chaplain. His place will be taken by Rev. Father J. B. Jullion, Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, who will remain here for the duration of the war, after which Father Wood may again take over the church, which was built largely through his efforts. Father Jullion, who will take over his new duties on December 1, has been a missionary for thirty-five years in the scattered diocese of Prince Albert.

he continued. The Premier was wise in withholding any public statement on the report now, which might prejudice bargaining opportunities later. People of the province would want to have some say in how the fat of western lands was to be spread, and some assurance as to who would control the butterfat. Mr. LeBourdais said, in conclusion.

COLIN CAMERON
Discussing Duncan prosecutions of several men tried under defence regulations, Mr. Cameron was assured by Attorney-General Wismer that the Province had already consented to appeals in certain instances. The men were at liberty on bail now, the Attorney-General said; and appeal hearings would proceed in due course. Mr. Cameron had criticized the prosecution upon what he termed slight circumstantial evidence, and in one instance on the ground that one defendant had been an occupant of a car.

Dealing with other matters, Mr. Cameron praised Canada's decision to train her young officers in the ranks. Some objection had been voiced in connection with junior naval officers who, though eager, were without adequate experience for the responsibility of caring for men's lives at sea in wartime. Limitation of post-service pensions to those with the colors who had served six months automatically shut out men discharged for ill-health after early enlistment. Camp conditions for training still left much to be desired.

It had been said in the House that capitalism was democracy. Mr. Cameron continued. He could see little resemblance between them. German bond quotations had been published in Victoria papers after the outbreak of war; and had fluctuated with every turn in the war news from Europe. It was not until after the plain people of Britain had demonstrated that this was their war, and that they would remain interested in its solution, that such gyrations had stopped.

Industrial capitalism, he submitted, was completely out-blooded and realistic, and not to be confused with democracy. Collective action and control of production with real use of the public credit to provide personal security for the people would have to come after the war. Through taxation and loans economic resources were now being drained for the war. After the war they would have to be applied to a peace, Mr. Cameron said, in conclusion.

Debate was adjourned by D. W. Strachan, Liberal, Dewdney; the House passing on to legislation, before rising at 4:50 p.m., until 8:30 p.m.

D. W. STRACHAN

Resuming after the supper recess, D. W. Strachan (Lib., Dewdney) dealt with milk production problems in the Fraser Valley. He praised the Department of Agriculture for efforts to stabilize marketing conditions, but said that milk producers were still in difficulties, and that some of them were in danger of losing their farms on foreclosures.

Mr. Strachan said he was prepared to leave decision on the Rowell report to the Administration, knowing that British Columbia's case would be presented in due course at the Ottawa conference by the Premier and other ministers. In conclusion, Mr. Strachan dealt with road and diking needs in Dewdney area.

MAYOR LYLE TELFORD
Following Mr. Strachan, Mayor Lyle Telford (C.C.F., Vancouver), clashed sharply with the Government over the Province's oil exploration programme at Commotion Creek, in the Peace River block.

"It is a political wildcat and the silliest thing I ever heard of. It makes me think of Father Divine, this doddering looking fellow on Commotion Creek. The Government has got hold of a wildcat by the tail. It has cost $260,000 already and they cannot let go. I'm telling you that it is a political wildcat—and I will take them back when you get the oil down here in competition with oil brought in cheaply by water," Mayor Telford declared.

Premier Pattullo—The first thing to do is to produce the oil.

Dr. Telford—Certainly, get the oil. Get it down here in competition with all the rest. I tell you, this is a second P.C.I. the 'Premier's Great Experiment'.

Mayor Telford passed on to other subjects, reiterating his previous argument as to the carryover of 300,000,000 bushels of wheat in Canada, which he had canvassed earlier in the main debate.

TELFORD SPEAKS

Speaking for one hour and ten minutes, Mayor Telford urged the Government to investigate claims with respect to plastic plane manufacture. He complained of legislative action in refusing Vancouver certain licensing privileges, and said assessments there had gone down, while exemptions from taxation were steadily going up.

A Conservative Government had left provincial finances in a bad way, the Liberal Administration claimed to have restored them; but the people could not find much of the benefit, he declared. With huge government costs, Canada, like other countries, faced a drastic change in its economy. It was his hope that in that change the plain people would not be forgotten. Mayor Telford said, in conclusion.

HOWARD FORRESTER

Rising late in the day, Howard Forrester (Lib., Burrard) recalled to the House the terms of the budget by reading from it extensively. It was a balanced budget, he said, revenues promising an operating surplus on current account. In the present year, the Province expected a surplus of $6,000,000 of revenues over expenditures, which would have its effect on industrial and business operations throughout the province.

"I think we should forget this talk about reducing expenditures. We have a growing population of about 800,000 people in the province, and it is reasonable to expect that the costs of administration will go up. We have a high standard of living, and a good deal to be thankful for," Mr. Forrester said.

Referring to the Rowell report, Mr. Forrester said he did not believe that the Provincial Government would accept its findings as they stood at present. The Province would be faced with a deficit of some $110,000,000 of debt, on one hand; but would have to hand over revenues worth $10,000,000 a year at present, with prospects of increasing. Such a revenue sum capitalized at 5 per cent would carry a debt of $200,000,000 or $400,000,000 in excess of the Province's net debt, Mr. Forrester said, in conclusion.

R. L. Maitland, K.C., adjourned debate on the budget, and will speak first when the House resumes today at 2:30 p.m. One message bill, concerning treasury financing on the Pattullo bridge, was introduced and read a first time before House adjourned at 11:25 p.m., after double sittings in the day.

POPULATION IS TWELVE MILLION

Canada under sixteen years, or a total population of better than 12,000,000.

TOTAL OF 8,000,000

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services, announced in a statement that during national registration on August 19, 20 and 21, 7,860,470 persons registered. Registrations since that date of persons who reached the age of sixteen brought the total to more than 8,000,000.

Of those listed during the August registration period, 3,988,760 were males and 3,981,710 females.

By provinces, the registration showed the following totals, with number of males in brackets:

Prince Edward Island, 63,108 (31,593); Nova Scotia, 382,598 (188,946); New Brunswick, 283,646 (145,836); Quebec, 2,152,240 (1,072,924); Ontario, 2,738,641 (1,260,382); Manitoba, 500,075 (256,370); Saskatchewan, 563,592 (284,100); Alberta, 537,880 (263,852); British Columbia, 598,768 (314,830).

The number of single men and widowers without children between the age of nineteen and forty-five, inclusive, numbered 989,539, distributed as follows:

BY PROVINCES

Ontario, 309,179; Quebec, 291,727; Nova Scotia, 49,238; New Brunswick, 36,649; Prince Edward Island, 8,004; Manitoba, 65,877; Saskatchewan, 87,293; Alberta (including Yukon), 76,494; British Columbia, 85,178.

In British Columbia nearly 600,000 people registered out of an estimated 1939 population of 774,000. In Saskatchewan approximately 600,000 persons registered from an estimated 1939 population of 949,000.

This indicated a greater percentage registration in British Columbia than in Saskatchewan but the minister said the answer is that the census shows that in British Columbia 74 per cent of the population is over the age of sixteen. In Saskatchewan only 62 per cent is over that age.

WOMEN URGED TO SHARE WAR

Canada's War Effort Pictured by Speaker at Provincial Council Meeting

"Since it is now clear that the English-speaking peoples are to save the world from a darker age than history records, it behooves us all, and particularly women, to realize increasingly our part in the struggle and to know how we can do our share," said Miss H. Van Buren, New Westminster Local Council delegate.

In the course of a review of "Canada's War Effort" at the afternoon session of the Provincial Council of Women meeting here yesterday.

In this review she covered, with statistical authority, the progress made by Canada, not only in the development of the three fighting services, navy, army and air, but in the production of war equipment of every kind and in the steps already being taken to finance the vast undertakings.

"Last year's peak cost per day was $1,400,000. In this war, for this fiscal year, the estimates are $3,000,000 per day, and this cost might be more later," she reminded her audience at one point.

She summarized Prime Minister Mackenzie King's statement to the House of Commons concerning Canada's war effort.

Canada this time could not borrow to pay, but must work on the "pay-as-you-go" principle, she said.

On motion of Dr. Olga Jardine, seconded by Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. Fleming and Mrs. H. P. Hodges, the speaker was thanked and the report will be mimeographed and sent to each of the local councils of the province, the cost to be borne by the Provincial Council.

TALK ON HEALTH

Dr. G. P. Amyok, provincial medical health officer, told about the work of his department and other health agencies in safeguarding the health of the people through T.B. clinics, laboratories stationed at various parts of the province, through the statistical service, public health engineering, the V.D. control division, various social services and public education.

"If we are going to apply the knowledge that we have, then the women must see this thing through, and see that we get the money necessary to carry out the work," he told the meeting, when appealing for council backing in the furtherance of health projects.

The various councils reported through their representatives, reports covering the widely-varied activities of women in the interests of women and community life in general. Mrs. Harold Crump read Vancouver Local Council report; Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, Victoria; Miss Van Buren, New Westminster; Mrs. H. Hooper, North Shore; Chilliwack, Mrs. R. G. Ferguson, Nanaimo, Mrs. J. Burt.

Mrs. H. G. Morris, Vancouver, National convener of Natural Resources, discussing an editorial in The Ottawa Journal entitled "Our Pampered Apples," pointed out that last year Canada, because she could not wait for her own produce, had paid the United States more than $13,000,000 for fresh fruits. The chairman, Mrs. Ross, afterwards summarized this as a plea to "Buy British."

The afternoon session passed a resolution commending the Government for opening a women's department in Oakalla gaol, on which Mrs. Harold Crump gave a report.

Victoria Local Council, following Mrs. A. E. Hopkins' report of the council's jam-making undertaking of the past Summer, was heartily congratulated.

Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin supplied the meeting with names of books on traffic safety distributed by the American Automobile Association. They are available on application to Dr. F. R. Noffsinger, Safety and Traffic Engineering Department, American Automobile Association, Mills Building, Washington, D.C.

B.C. PREMIER RESTATES CASE

Government Misrepresented Generally on Issue of Rowell Report

Declaring that the liberty of the press was descending into the licence of the press, and that the day would come when men in public life would require protection from misrepresentations in editorial columns, Premier Pattullo took issue in the Legislature last evening with criticism of the Government's stand on the Rowell report printed in an unsigned article on the editorial page of The Sun.

Restating the Government's attitude on the Rowell report, Premier Pattullo said it was this Province that had forced the issue of an adjustment as between the Provinces and the Dominion, leading to the creation of the Royal Commission. In spite of what had been said, the Provincial Government was not opposed to a fair adjustment on a Canadian wide basis, and was prepared to go to any reasonable length to support the Dominion in the proper prosecution of the war.

WITH RESERVATIONS

"The point is, that while we are out to help Ottawa in every way, we do not want to be hog-tied and hamstrung in doing it. We are not going to allow this war to be made the excuse for nullifying all the progress, and all the advances, that have been made in British Columbia since the nineteenth thirties," Premier Pattullo declared.

"Not all the criticism, or all the pounding or anything else, will cause this Government to lose its perspective. We are going to co-operate with Canada for the welfare of all. Anything that Ottawa says is necessary for the prosecution of the war, we will do, but we are not going to submit to measures which would bind the Province for all time in respect of conditions which may only be applicable now, during the war," the Premier said.

Premier Pattullo withdrew the motion of privilege on which he had presented his argument, but only after declaring that the article in question was misrepresentative and cowardly.

MRS. CHURCHILL SPEAKS ON AIR

Gives First of Series of Weekly Broadcasts to India's Women

LONDON, Nov. 21 (CP)—Mrs. Winston Churchill, inaugurating a series of weekly broadcasts to the women of India today, said "We ask of India, not pity, but understanding and the sympathy which comes from understanding."

It was the first broadcast made by the wife of the Prime Minister.

"We know that you have given of your wealth, that Indian soldiers are helping to fight our joint battles all over the world," she said. "I sometimes hear it said that it is hypocritical of the English to rail at tyranny in Europe and refuse freedom to India. But in any case you in India can have no conception of the tyranny that would overtake you if the British were beaten in this war."

Noting that "we are all in the front line," she said that "none of these hideous events have touched you yet."

FINDS LIFE THRILLING

Despite the horrors of bombing, she said, "I find life in England today absolutely thrilling and I am glad to be alive at this great moment of our history."

"We are quite literally under the shadow of death," she continued. "We can still say that 999 out of every 1,000 people are unharmed. All the same there is a chance that death by violence may come at any moment to any one of us and that is what I mean when I say that life is thrilling—not physically enjoyable."

Mrs. Churchill concluded that Britons are "fighting and working in a great cause in conviction of the truth of the Prime Minister's words: 'We shall not lag or fail. We shall go on.'"

Funeral Rites for Judge Lammiman to Be Held Tomorrow

Says Recruiting for Offensive Should Be Under Way in Canada

Howard Green Urges Long-Range Programme for Expansion of Overseas Forces—Asks for Recognition of Women's War Organizations

OTTAWA, Nov. 21 (C)—A long-range programme of recruiting for overseas service should be under way now if Canada is to play an important part in the offensive stage of the war, Howard Green (Conservative, Vancouver South) declared in the House of Commons today.

"The Government must remember that it is relying on volunteers for its front line forces," Mr. Green said. "It should announce right now the number to be taken on in the next year, so that men may make their plans."

Speaking in the Throne Speech debate, Mr. Green expressed surprise that the Government refused to take into the military organization women who are voluntarily organizing for war services.

"Why can they not be recognized as part of the forces of Canada?" he asked. "There must be antiques or old fogies in our defence headquarters, or perhaps in the Government itself, when these women are consistently refused recognition."

ESSAYS BY MINISTERS

Referring to "interesting essays read by ministers this session," Mr. Green said the theme of all was to lead Canadians to believe everything was going well.

"This ministerial attitude constitutes a great danger to Canada because the people do not realize the seriousness of the situation," Canadian people can take bad news!"

Mr. Green protested the "unfair and unhealthy" concentration of wealth in Central Canada by concentrating most war orders there. It meant, among other things, that young men and women had to migrate from other parts of the country for jobs.

URGES CHANGE IN POLICY

It meant a top-sided development of the nation which would result in grave trouble for the next fifty or one hundred years if continued now. He asked that the Government change its policy and scatter war plants across Canada.

He urged an immediate rehabilitation plan for men now being discharged from the armed services. So far 15,000 men had been discharged. He also urged extension of dependents' allowances to cover more than two children, as at present.

Hitler finds his peace offers have little effect in ending the war. Of course, he could go climb his mountain and just ignore the whole thing.

the war programme but, more fundamentally, to restrict civilian buying.

SACRIFICES NECESSARY

When Canadians generally appreciated the fact that "probably more" than one-fifth of the entire national income now was being devoted to war purposes, they would realize the sacrifices each would be required to make.

The Finance Minister warned against an "excessive and dangerous" optimism regarding the present state of the war. The war was not a victory, not sure enough that the important things in their lives were really in jeopardy.

Since the outbreak of war 350,000 persons had been added to industry and 200,000 to the armed services, but some unemployment remained. However, the war programme would produce full employment "before many months have passed."

Already shortages were being encountered with greater frequency. If necessary, tens of thousands of people might have to be shifted from agriculture and trade into war production.

PROBLEMS TO FACE

While it had been stated on several occasions that anything physically and morally possible would be made financially possible, this did not mean there were not tremendous financial problems to face, he continued. More careful attention to both the physical and financial aspects of the war programme would be necessary.

"We must be prepared to raise very large sums of money" in one way or another and divert ever-increasing amounts of our national income into the Treasury," he said. "It will be no easy task."

It would require the utmost skill, the most energetic direction and hard, unremitting work on the part of the Government and the people, but he believed that "we can do by voluntary action as much as the enemy is doing by the most rigid compulsion."

"I have faith in our ability to match and surpass their effort once our people are aroused," he said.

NON-WAR EXPENDITURES

The Finance Minister, speaking in the Address Debate, told the Commons that ordinary non-war expenditures had been about $20,000,000 less than usual in the first six months of this fiscal year, which began April 1 last.

On the revenue side, up to yesterday, receipts were about $145,000,000 more than usual, being somewhat above the budget forecast of last June. The national defence tax, a new tax, was producing more than had been expected.

R. L. MAITLAND FILES MOTION

Want of Confidence Move in Legislature as Budget Debate Spreads

Preparing for his speech on the budget tomorrow, R. L. Maitland, K.C., Conservative leader of the Opposition in the Provincial Legislature, filed notice of a want-of-confidence motion in the House yesterday. Mr. Maitland indicated he would ask the House to support him in a call for revision of the budget to cut down expenditures as a wartime need.

The motion was referred to in the notice as follows:

ASKING HOUSE SUPPORT

"Whereas Canada is at war, and whereas the said war requires great expenditures on the part of the people of Canada, and whereas the taxpayers in every Province must contribute to greater taxation requirements of the Dominion Government for the purpose of prosecuting the war.

"And whereas no effort has been made in British Columbia to assist the Dominion in meeting the said requirements. Therefore be it resolved that this House respectfully requests that before Mr. Speaker leave the chair the House go into committee of supply for the Government to reconsider the estimates of expenditure which the Minister of Finance proposes to present to this House, with a view to reducing the same."

AIR ATTACKS ARE LIGHTER

Towards midnight the period of quiet grew longer, punctuated by fierce bursts of barrage on the outer fringe of defences.

During yesterday there were three thrusts at London, two of them brief.

CROSS-CHANNEL GUN DUEL

The raiders defied a gale over the Channel to make their daylight stab at Great Britain, and as they came over a heavy cross-Channel gun duel raged below them in spite of low visibility.

The first two daylight raids on London were of short duration. One enemy bomber was destroyed and one British fighter plane was lost.

A Southeast England village turned out en masse to help firemen control fires caused last night by hundreds of incendiary bombs dropped by Nazi raiders.

In the London area a high explosive bomb killed a family of four, the parents and two daughters. Terrific anti-aircraft fire was reported to have taken the sting out of the Nazis' second successive night of mass attack on the Midlands and the Government described the raids as "intermittent and on a minor scale."

BORN TO IT
While crossing a common old woman noticed one of those men who go around jabbing a pointed stick into scraps of paper to gather them up.
Stopping beside him, she said, kindly: "Don't you find that work very tiring?"
"Not very, mum," replied the man. "You see, I was born to it—my father used to harpoon whales."

LACK OF MILITARY EQUIPMENT

In the course of his contribution to the Debate on the Address in the Federal Parliament Mr. R. B. Hanson, the Conservative leader, asked the Government a number of questions which still remain unanswered, or only answered in an entirely unsatisfactory way. They have to do with this country's war equipment which is so notoriously behind the needs of the time. How far behind is illustrated by the excuse given by the Minister of National Defence for only being able to provide a month's training for those called up for compulsory service. Mr. Hanson says that this short period was decided upon because of lack of equipment. It is in relation to this that Mr. Hanson has asked the following questions:

1. Why have no rifles been made in Canada to date for use by our battalions?

2. Why is there such a shortage of machine guns for use by machine-gun units?

3. Why is signal equipment practically nonexistent?

4. What is the position with respect to Bren guns? Why is there so much secrecy about their production?

5. Are there any 25-pounders for our artillery? Two artillery units in training in my province, one at St. Stephen and one at Fredericton, have never even had a wooden gun with which to train. I talked to the officers personally, and they are just sick about it.

6. What is the state of production of tanks in Canada? How far, if at all, have we progressed?

7. How far have we progressed in the manufacture of aeroplanes? I have been told that no engines are being made, that it is only hoped to make them at some indefinite time in the future.

8. What is the production of aeroplane propellers and hubs?

9. How does our effort compare with that of our sister Dominion, Australia? From a recent account I read it would appear that in every field of war endeavor, Australia, with only about two-thirds as many people and probably less than two-thirds the wealth of this country, is far ahead of Canada.

A STERLING CITIZEN GONE

Judge P. S. Lampman's long residence here made him many friends and admirers because of the estimable qualities that were his, and all these will bear of his death with the deepest regret. Able and upright always in his legal work, for which he obtained the reward of a seat on the Bench, he had otherwise many characteristics that made him respected, and endeared him to those who were his companions. There was in his attitude towards life a keen and buoyant interest, an enthusiasm that rendered his contact with all tonic in its effect. He had the inquiring mind, well developed, ready and anxious to seek information on all kinds of subjects. Those around him, all people whom he met, attracted him; he wanted to learn of their reactions to events, even to the ordinary routine happenings of the day.

It was in this way that Judge Lampman kept his enthusiasms glowing on and into the twilight of life, by his lively appreciation of the doings of his fellows both young and old. There was sincerity stamped on all his interest in men and affairs. He had, too, that good virtue of a conversationalist, in finding out what was in the mind of whoever he talked to and endeavoring to share in throwing light on this, that or the other subject discussed. There is no better tribute that may be paid to him than that he was, like Abou Ben Adhem—one who loved his fellow men. His passing removes a citizen of sterling character. Every sympathy will go out from many quarters to his widow and son in their sorrow over the loss of a devoted husband and father.

A TERCENTENARY

The representatives of the people now in session at Ottawa might well, amid all the discursiveness that is theirs, have recalled that this year and this month mark the tercentenary of a happening which made the privileges that they enjoy possible. The tercentenary also serves as a reminder of what parliamentary responsibility means, and is a warning that the authority implied should never be allowed to wither or wane. It was on November 3, 1640, that the Long Parliament assembled at Westminster. That gathering was a landmark in the development of the constitutional powers enjoyed in British lands. In Great Britain, despite her tremendous preoccupation, the tercentenary was not forgotten. In Ottawa it was ignored, perhaps because at this time the Parliament of the Dominion has vested an authority in its Government which gives it oligarchical powers. In Great Britain, whatever powers the Government there enjoys, the method of their operation is continuously passing through the sieve of parliamentary responsibility. How that country views the rights and privileges won by the efforts of the Long Parliament is well expressed by The Yorkshire Post when it says:

"Against totalitarian conceptions, against the tyranny of such courts as Star Chamber and High Commission, against the growing method of government by dictatorial means, these men asserted the very principles which Englishmen now die to maintain. The supremacy of the law, the right of the individual to have a voice in the nation's government, freedom of speech, freedom of the Press, freedom from religious coercion, for these things they fought, and did not hesitate to venture life, property and all upon the issue. And in this struggle to establish the rule of law against the capricious will of a single person that great Englishman, John Pym, uttered words that are fully applicable today: 'The law is that which puts a difference betwixt just and unjust; if you take away the law, all things will fall into confusion, every man will become a law to himself, which in the depraved condition of human nature, must needs produce many great enormities; just will become a law, and envy will become a law, covetousness and ambition will become laws. Today Britain, and the great American democracy sprung from this common Puritan root, see the doctrine of the rule of law, once more at grips with that of the divine right of one man or group of men to impose their ruthless will. The principles at stake now are curiously like those at stake in 1640, with this difference—three centuries have changed the problem from national to international. Yet its solution, as in the England of three hundred years ago, must finally be sought in Pym's ideal of the supremacy of the law."

POLITICAL PROPAGANDA

Air Marshal W. Bishop, who has been carrying out a great deal of political propaganda for the Mackenzie King Government, has made a statement in Washington, D.C., that the Empire Air training scheme is "a year ahead of schedule." Inasmuch as this scheme was announced first in December, 1939, and it took the Dominion Government some months to arrange for its inception, the statement made by Air Marshal Bishop is false. The truth is that instead of being ahead of schedule it is behind. The first airman trained under the scheme were scheduled to leave for England in September last. Mr. Mackenzie King told Parliament on November 12 that the first group of "air observers" to be trained under the plan completed their training on October 24. This was a month behind schedule. The Australian and New Zealand airmen to participate in the scheme only commenced to arrive in this country on September 26 last. Their number in Canada still falls short of 500.

No Government, in the long run, can foster its political fortunes by the promulgation of untruths. Such a form of propaganda is dangerous when it deals with the measure of effort brought to bear on war. The people cannot be hoodwinked, despite any withholding of knowledge of governmental doings under the cloak of conspiracy. In the case in point, an air training scheme which has not been in actual operation for more than eight months cannot be "a year ahead of schedule."

A dispatch from Stockholm says that the Nobel Peace Prize cannot, for obvious reasons, be conferred this year. It is true there has been little competition for it but there is no reason why it should not be awarded to Mr. de Valera by default.

FROM "IN NO STRANGE LAND"

Not where the wheeling seasons darken,
And our benumbed conceiving souls;
The drift of pinions, would we hearken,
Beats at our own clay-shuttered doors.

The angels keep their ancient places,
Turn but a stone and start a wing!
T'is ye, 'tis ye estranged faces,
That miss the many-splendoured thing.

But (when so sad thou canst not sadder)
Cry,—"and upon thy so sore loss
Shall shine the traffic of Jacob's ladder
Pitched betwixt Heaven and Charing Cross.

Yes, in the night, my Soul, my daughter,
Cry—clinging Heaven by the hem;
And lo, Christ walking on the water,
Not of Genesareth, but Thames!

—Francis Thompson.

FOR THE RIGHT

Let no man say that when the hour comes we shall not be prepared to suffer for the right once more. You look at men in a time of peace and say what they will be in a time of war. But you cannot judge; wait till a cry goes through the land; wait for the foul injustice, and oppression and great wrong; wait for the helpless thousands to be saved; wait for the captives to be freed; wait until the time comes for a struggle—which God avert—the strength, the enthusiasm, the sacrifice of England and England's sons, will not be wanting. —H. R. Haweis (1872).

ENGLAND

O England! long, long may it be ere the sun of thy glory sink beneath the wave of darkness! Though gloomy and portentous clouds are now gathering rapidly around thee, still, still may it please the Almighty to disperse them, and to grant thee a futurity longer in duration and still brighter in renown than thy past! —George Horro.

Cowardice asks, Is it safe? Expediency asks, Is it politic? Vanity asks, Is it popular? But Conscience asks, Is it right? —Puncheon.

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

Orion, the hunter, is on his rounds again these nights in the southern sky. Have you looked? Perhaps you should. Men have been looking at Orion and his dogs since they detected their "holes in the sky."

Any night that is reasonably clear now will show Orion still on his grand rounds. To Vancouver Islanders he appears over the Strait of Juan de Fuca, striding above and behind the Olympic range of mountains. To people in Britain, he will appear above the south coast. Actually, the earth spins so that Orion traverses its equator, visible from both hemispheres. It is a magnificent constellation, with a riddle.

To our sight, Orion begins his grand rounds low down in the southeastern sky. Then, by a process of levitation, he appears to float upward on his left side, turning slowly, so that he stands for a while erect; and then sinks slowly on his right side, into the fog of the southwestern horizon. That is rough and approximate, but close enough for the purpose of this column; which is to coax you to identify the hunter and his dogs, if you have not long ago done so.

One can get at it another way. Forget the hunter for a moment. Do you recall the old fifth proposition in Euclid, the bridge of pedantic days? Well, the constellation of Orion appears like two donkeys' bridges, one back to back in the sky. Or, one could say it was like an illuminated hour hand on a large clock, thick in the middle and pointed at both ends, which, pivoted at the lower point, counted off the hours of the night, as indeed it does. Right now in November, Orion is the brightest and most colorful thing in the sky.

DO NOT be frightened at the names of the stars. After all, even stars had to be given names by man, and it is natural that those names should now be very, very old. At the peak of the top triangle is Betelgeuse, one of the colossal structures of the heavens. Directly opposite, at the bottommost peak is Rigel, another giant. In between, on the base-line, are three bright stars which form the sword belt of Orion. From the belt hangs his sword, or really a scimitar, for it curves downward and to the left. Behind Orion, that is to his left, and almost at his heels as a good dog should be, is Sirius, the dog star, the brightest thing in the northern hemisphere. Run your eye from Sirius, white and luminous, through the middle star of the belt, and upwards and beyond the belt, and you will see Aldebaran, a ruddy-complexioned star, also of gigantic proportions, in the next constellation.

There are other stars in Orion, notably two, one on each side of the sword belt, one below and to the left, and the other above and to the right. For thousands of years they have been observed and known, and in more recent times weighed and measured. But the best thing in Orion is its riddle: the great nebula, which winks and glows like a dimly seen jewel on the scabbard of the scimitar. It is a curious, irregular form, of gauzy, shaded patches. Through field glasses it becomes more visible, but not more solid. In the space telescopes the nebula begins to take on something of its irregular form. Even in quite large telescopes it is evasive and exasperating. The camera tracks it down.

Is it not strange to realize that, high over the equator as it is, the constellation of Orion has probably been seen by more people who have lived on this planet than any other single object in the skies; and that, in spite of that, we still may speak of its most interesting object as a riddle, a nebula, something about which not enough is known? That is not the case with the money for my funeral, but that's not important now.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of November 22, 1890)

Call for Tenders—Hooper & Goddard, architects, are calling for tenders for the construction of a four-story brick and stone building on Broad Street. Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the architect, and bids must be sent in before 3 o'clock on Wednesday next.

A Cut in Coal—Hall & Goepel, and other coal dealers in town, now quote the best article for family use at 46-50 per ton, the lowest price at which coal has been sold here for some years. Mr. Hall says that the coal prices here are due to the Vancouver Coal Company placing their coal in the hands of too many dealers. He says that the cut cannot be carried any further down and leave any margin at all to the dealers.

Colors for the Victorian—In recognition of the honor conferred upon Victoria by the christening of the fine new Pacific liner, the steamship Victorian, it has been decided by several influential citizens to procure a complete stand of colors for presentation to the new boat when she first enters Victoria harbor. Consequently they are meeting with good success, and the colors will come.

Instructions Given to Help War Prisoner

Advice has now been received at local Red Cross headquarters that the personal parcel service to British prisoners of war and internees in Germany has been resumed. The next-of-kin, or one relative, may send one parcel, not exceeding eleven pounds in weight, every three months to a British prisoner of war or internee, but not more than one parcel every three months will be accepted from all sources.

The instructions previously issued regarding strong packing and the method of inscribing the address, as well as the name and address of the person from whom the parcel comes, are to be adhered to. The following inscription must be written over the address: "Prisoner of War Parcel," with the German translation "Kriegsgefangenen-Endung." Immediately below, in the lower left-hand corner of the address label, the parcel must be marked "Postage Free" ("Gebührenfrei"). The address should be in printed block capitals, and must include the following information:

Line 1—Navy, army or air force number, rank, surname, followed by Christian name or initials.

Line 2—British or Canadian prisoner of war in Germany.

Line 3—Camp name or number.

Line 4—Base Postoffice, Ottawa.

The parcel may not contain any of the following articles:

TWO MORE SEEK WARD ONE SEAT

Two new candidates for the seat of Councillor of Ward One in Saanich announced themselves yesterday. This now raises to five the number of aspirants for the seat on the council.

A. E. Horner, former chairman of the British Columbia Hothouse Tomato Marketing Board, and Luther Holling, proprietor of the Ornamental Iron Works on Cedar Hill Road, are the two new candidates.

Mr. Horner, who is a gardener, residing at Kisher Avenue, Mount

Tomlin, served three years on the council, from 1922 to 1924, and on the municipal school board from 1925 to 1927. He was chairman of the tomato board in 1937 and 1938.

In announcing his candidature, Mr. Horner declared there was room for adjustments in the municipal assessments. He stressed a more equitable basis of taxation in Saanich.

Mr. Holling resides on Shelbourne Street.

Those in the field in addition are John Watson, Sidney Hunt and W. A. Kettle.

Stuart Henderson Charges Crown With Having Evi- dence in Case Planted

Charges that the Crown had used a stool pigeon to plant literature likely to prejudice the successful prosecution of the war in an effort to secure convictions in four separate charges under the Defence of Canada Regulations were made in the Saanich police court yesterday by Stuart Henderson, counsel for Wilson Money, one of those charged.

A question, addressed by Mr. Henderson to Sergeant A. B. Thornthwaite, R.C.M.P., asking if a certain Mr. Webster, who figured in four charges in Greater Victoria under the Defence of Canada Regulations, was a stool pigeon, was disallowed by Magistrate Henry C. Hall, on the objection of C. L. Harrison, Crown prosecutor.

Mr. Henderson then continued, that Webster was the publisher of The Island Clarion, a Communist paper found in quantity in a house at Cordova Bay, allegedly owned by Money, and that the documents and a duplicating machine had been planted there by Webster.

MAY PRODUCE EVIDENCE

In sustaining Mr. Harrison's objection, the magistrate added that he would not bar any evidence that the documents had been planted by Webster if Mr. Henderson cared to introduce it when presenting the defence.

After presentation of the evidence for the Crown, the case was remanded until next Thursday.

Taking the stand at the outset, Sergeant Thornthwaite described his visit to the house at Cordova Bay on October 13, with Sergeant Eric Elwell, Saanich, and Detective David Donaldson, of the city.

The doors of the house were padlocked and the garage doors were barred from the inside and nailed. After gaining entrance to the house, the officers found a large wooden box in the kitchen. When this was pushed back they found that three boards in the floor were removable and under them was a hole containing a cardboard carton. This in turn contained a rotary duplicator, printer's ink, etc.

In the kitchen they found a key, which unlocked the padlock to a small lean-to. Here they picked up various papers containing the name of Wilson Money. On a shelf behind the door was a cardboard box containing sheets of mimeograph paper and forty copies of The Island Clarion, dated September, 1940. A shotgun was found in the garage.

Money was subsequently charged on October 23. The testimony of Sergeant Thornthwaite was corroborated by Sergeant Elwell and Detective Donaldson.

Evidence was also given by Sergeant S. H. Emerson and Constable W. Douglas, of the R.C.M.P.

In raids on Tirana, capital of Albania, Tuesday night, airmen dropped bombs on the city and in other attacks on Durazzo, the modernized port which Italy uses to supply her forces in the Greek campaign, hits were obtained on wharves, a statement said.

Assab, Italian port in Eritrea, was continuously raided Monday night and Tuesday night, the communiqué said, with fires visible for several miles.

On the night of November 18 one enemy aircraft dropped a few bombs, including one or two incendiaries, in the Suez Canal area without causing damage or casualties.

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT

Nov. 21 (CP).—A corvette, used in anti-submarine warfare, was launched here today after being christened Lethbridge by Mrs. Pierre F. Casgrain, wife of the Secretary of State. Later Mrs. Casgrain christened the Saskatoon, another corvette, which had been launched several weeks ago.

Pattullo Bridge Tolls to Remain Without Changes

SHORTLY before the Legislature adjourned at 11:26 p.m. yesterday, Hon. John Hart introduced amendments to the Fraser River Bridge Act, to restore the authority of the Treasury to recoup from tolls sums required for sinking funds on a balance of $2,000,000 of debt on the $4,000,000 structure. The tolls will remain unchanged, Mr. Hart said. An error in the initial statute made the amendment necessary, when the Treasury resorted to Treasury bills in connection with bridge financing.

SUCCESS IN LIBYA

The Air Ministry issued this communiqué on Thursday:

"An aerial combat in which sixty enemy fighters and fifteen fighter aircraft of the Royal Air Force were engaged took place in Eastern Libya yesterday. Seven CR-42s (Italian Fiat biplane fighters) were destroyed, five of them being seen to burn out on the ground.

"Three other enemy fighters were shot down, but it is impossible to say whether they were completely destroyed or not. No R.A.F. planes were lost, every one returning to its base safely and undamaged.

"Raids were carried out on the night of November 19-20 on Bardia and Tobruk. At Bardia, bombs fell on military stores. The Tobruk attack was carried out with success, but the full results were not observed owing to weather conditions.

RAIDS ON ALBANIA

"Further raids were made by R.A.F. bombing aircraft on Tirana and Durazzo, Albania, on the night of November 19-20. At the Tirana airfield, hangars were set on fire and much damage was caused, while at Durazzo direct hits were registered on wharves and harbors. Reconnaissance flights were carried over Taranto and other Italian ports.

"During the nights November 18-19 and 19-20, Assab, the Italian port in Eritrea, was continuously raided by R.A.F. bombers, causing severe damage. On the first night, when a downed aircraft was seen, bombs fell on supply depots, on buildings at the head of the jetty, on warehouses, starting three fires, on the powerhouse, which began a blaze that was visible over twenty miles, on harbor buildings, naval workshops, oil tanks and ammunition stores.

POWERHOUSE ATTACKED

"The following night the powerhouse was again attacked and set on fire. The naval headquarters and army food stores were bombed and other supply depots set ablaze.

Separate attacks were made, bombs fell on supply depots, on buildings at the head of the jetty, on warehouses, starting three fires, on the powerhouse, which began a blaze that was visible over twenty miles, on harbor buildings, naval workshops, oil tanks and ammunition stores.

"On the night of November 18 one enemy aircraft dropped a few bombs, including one or two incendiaries, in the Suez Canal area without causing damage or casualties.

WAS FORMERLY AT WORK POINT

Colonel E. C. G. Chambers, Director of Engineer Ser- vices, Dies in Ottawa

Colonel Edward C. G. Chambers, well known in Victoria, where he was stationed formerly for several years, died in Ottawa yesterday, according to advice received here. He was director of engineer services of the Canadian Army.

Colonel Chambers, who was fifty-three years of age, had an excellent service record of more than twenty-five years. He was born at Shortlands, Kent, England, and in the last Great War he went to France with the 10th Field Company, Canadian Engineers.

In 1929, Colonel Chambers came to Work Point as district engineer officer, in which capacity he also had charge of relief camps in this district. In 1934 he was succeeded by Lieut.-Colonel H. L. Sherwood and was transferred East. Soon after leaving Victoria, Colonel Chambers married Miss Marjorie Waugh, daughter of Mrs. J. Calder Waugh, 1721 Rockland Avenue.

Colonel Chambers became director of engineer services last July 24, and recently had been on sick leave.

Cocktail Party

On the occasion of the forty-ninth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ward, 46 South Turner Street, which took place on Monday, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. O. Wood, "Quandalla," entertained recently at a cocktail party in their honor. A toast was proposed by Mr. R. Kallenbach to the guests of honor, and Mrs. Ward was presented with a corsage bouquet of red carnations and fern by Mrs. Wood, and she also received a silk umbrella from the guests. Mr. Ward was presented with a box of cigars. The tea table was arranged with pink carnations and ferns, and an ice cream cake inscribed with the dates 1891-1940 stood in the center. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. R. Kallenbach, Mr. and Mrs. G. Brockington, Mr. and Mrs. W. Sturrock, Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore, Mr. and Mrs. H. Woolston, Mr. and Mrs. Mason, Miss Thelma Woolston and Mr. H. Ward.

Make Presentation

An enjoyable evening was held on Wednesday, when the Pipes and Drums, in full Highland dress, held a get-together at the Colwood Auto Camp, Colwood. Twenty-two members attended, with Pipe Major Ian Duncan as master of ceremonies. A buffet supper was served at 8:30 o'clock. Drum Major Roy Moir was presented with an engraved silver coffee percolator from the Pipes and Drums. Mr. Moir recently left the service after a record of twenty-six years. He was one of the original members of the 2nd Battalion, O.S.R., and also served with the 50th Gordon Highlanders; 72nd Seaforth Highlanders; and 2nd Battalion, O.S.R. After supper the boys entertained themselves with singing and Highland dancing. A few of the pipes rendered favorite tunes, and the party concluded by singing "Happy We Been A' Togeth'er," "Auld Lang Syne," and "God Save the King."

Shower for Bride

Mrs. C. Parsons, formerly Amy Johnson, was guest of honor recently at a surprise miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. N. Smith, Inez Drive. She was presented with a corsage bouquet, and the gifts were drawn into the room in a pink and white decorated wagon by little Jean Smith, who was dressed in pink and white. Contests and bingo were played. The invited guests were Mesdames E. Parsons, F. Parsons, L. Parsons, K. Parsons, H. Baxter, A. Baxter, R. Foster, F. Clark, J. McKinnell, W. Bond, R. Page, T. S. Huggard, P. Shaper, A. Yates, L. M. Soars, V. Tupman, A. Campbell, Misses Dorothy Parsons, Ivy Thompson, Lucy Ross, Audrey Grey, Marjorie and Jean Smith.

Dance for Soldiers

The dance held last evening at the Crystal Garden by the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters in aid of the Queen Alexandra Soldiers was a great success, about 200 guests attending. Pupils of Miss Florence Clough took part in novelty dance numbers, which added much to the interest of the evening and were enthusiastically applauded by the guests. A three-piece orchestra, Miss Margaret Henry as vocal soloist, played the dance music and the balloon dance proved a highlight of the entertainment. In addition, there were contest prizes. The committee in charge included Mr. Bert Longhurst, Mr. E. Erb, Mr. Leonard Parkin, Mr. Harry Maddaford, Mrs. E. Erb, Miss Pearl Cottle, Mrs. Elsie Crabbe and Mrs. Stanley Frazer.

Thanksgiving Luncheon

In celebration of American Thanksgiving Day, Mrs. Reed Paige Clark, wife of the United States Consul, was hostess at a luncheon party yesterday at "Rifflington," Uplands, when her guests were Mrs. T. Mrs. E. K. Pangman has left for Truro, N.S., to join her husband, who left Victoria some time ago with the Petrol Division.

In Hospital

Friends of Mrs. J. Lorimer will be pleased to hear she is making satisfactory progress after her recent operation in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Weddings

GREGSON-THOMSON

A quiet ceremony was performed yesterday at First United Church, when Rev. W. O. Wilson, D.D., united in marriage Margaret R. Thomson, eldest daughter of Mr. John McO. Thomson and the late Mrs. Thomson, and Mr. Douglas B. Gregson, youngest son of Mrs. A. M. Gregson and the late Mr. Gregson. For the occasion the bride chose a Wedgwood blue sheer wool frock, with which she wore a model hat of black felt trimmed with a feather mount of matching blue. After a honeymoon on the Mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Gregson will make their home at 1270 Dallas Road.

Schubert Club Gives Concert

The Schubert Club, since its inception eighteen years ago, has given its services in many philanthropic and patriotic causes, and Tuesday night presented a pleasing programme at the Memorial Hall in aid of the Ladies' Parish Guild and the Sewing Circle of Christ Church Cathedral.

Its ranks depleted by the absence of half a dozen members, the choir sang admirably under the direction of Frederic King. Special favorites were the choral arrangements of Schubert's "Ave Maria," with Mrs. Audrey Robinson as soloist, substituting for Grace Hamp; Schubert's "To Music," with Eileen Brown as soloist, and "How Sweet the Moonlight Sleeps" (Taylor); McLeod's "I Saw a Ship a-Sailing," which had pleasing brightness and good accent, and Sullivan's "Lost Chord," with the closing number. Mrs. Grace Timp gave artistic support at the piano.

GUEST ARTISTS

Guest artists were John Bray, baritone, in a group which included "What Though I Trace" (Händel), Mattel's "Non e Ver," "Sing a Song of Sixpence" and, as an encore, "When I Think Upon the Maidens" (Michael Head); Marguerite Rush in two readings, Pauline Johnson's "The Cattle Thief" and Edgar Guest's amusing brevity, "The Cuckoo Trousers." The Ockenend Trio (Helen, pianist; Fay, violinist and Violet, cellist) played four Frederick Bridge compositions of popular character, special favorites being the animated "Marche Militaire" and a spirited Hornpipe. All these artists were included with the members of the choir in Dean Elliott's thanks.

From the ranks of the choir itself were Verna Nimmo, lyric soprano, who sang "That's All" and Lisa Lehmann's "Cuckoo"; the attractive duettists, Elsie Robinson and Beatrice Jones, who sang Mendelssohn's "Greetings" and "Evening Song" and Dvorak's "Goin' Home"; and Eileen Brown, contralto, whose numbers were "Sylvia" and "Coming Home."

Women's Institutes

LANGFORD

An enjoyable and party under the auspices of the Langford Institute was held in the Institute Hall on Wednesday evening. Mrs. H. A. Hinks and Mrs. H. F. Dack were the convener. The first prize winners for bridge were Mrs. H. G. Baynes and Mr. W. Savory; consolation winners, Mrs. Bannerman and Mr. Baynes. The hall was decorated with bronze chrysanthemums.

COLWOOD

Mrs. S. Vallis presided at the monthly meeting of the Colwood Women's Institute on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. A. G. MacDonald, of the Overseas League, gave an interesting talk on the requirements of clothing to be distributed among the air-raided victims in Great Britain. The members have prepared a large case of clothing for this purpose and the weekly sewing bees will continue commencing Thursday, November 28. A letter was received from the Bolarium, thanking the members for the gift of a wheel chair. A donation of cigarettes has been sent to the Victoria unit of the Princess Pats overseas. Mrs. MacDonald was presented with a bouquet of chrysanthemums by Miss Marian Parsons, and Mrs. Marshall, a visiting member from Alberta, was given a corsage by Miss Helen Vallis. Mrs. E. Peatt and Mrs. J. Hopwood served tea.

THE ONE AND ONLY

A church congregation was giving a reception to a former vicar and his wife. The present vicar greeted his predecessor heartily. "Ah, how pleasant to see you again," he said, "and this is your most charming wife?" The other minister fixed his host with an accusing stare. "This," he said, reprovingly, "is my only wife."

Junior Red Cross Arranges Concert

At the Central Junior High School yesterday, plans were completed by the executive of the Camouso branch of the Junior Red Cross to hold a Christmas concert on December 18 and 19. Three short one-act plays are already in rehearsal, under the direction of Miss W. Elliott, Mr. R. T. Kipling and Miss Olive Heritage. Several solo items and sketches will round out what promises to be a most interesting entertainment.

In addition to preparing for the Christmas concert, the pupils, who are members of the branch, are collecting labels to aid the crippled children at the Bolarium and are supporting the drive for empty toothpaste tubes and silverfoil paper.

Wilson & Cabeldu Forges Ahead

LOCAL FIRM REPRESENTS THREE GENERAL MOTORS PRODUCTS

CHEVROLET—OLDSMOBILE—CADILLAC

The story of Wilson & Cabeldu in Victoria has been one of continual growth and progress, and the announcement just made by General Motors Corporation of Canada of their appointment as Oldsmobile dealers is evidence that the progress of this leading automobile concern has far from reached its limit. For several years R. B. Wilson and E. H. Cabeldu have been hanging up records for Chevrolet sales on Vancouver Island, not to mention the sale of a considerable number of that world masterpiece, the aristocratic Cadillac. And now it is announced that their sales and organization ability is to be put behind another of General Motors Canadian-built cars, the Oldsmobile, acclaimed everywhere as style leader of the world. Year after year Wilson & Cabeldu have improved and expanded their splendid service organization, which is one very evident reason for their ever-increasing sales. Car buyers like to be assured of accurate scientific service and nothing has been left undone to assure this at the big establishment at the junction of Yates and Vancouver Streets. Very considerable sums have been invested in the latest equipment for mechanical and electrical work in every phase of automobile service and a staff of carefully trained and carefully selected men has been built up to add to this modern equipment and these very complete facilities. The firm is now in the position of being able to serve the car buyer in every price class. Chevrolet, with its sales record of being first for the past ten years is easily the leader in the lowest price field. Oldsmobile appeals to the man who demands a greater degree of luxury and perhaps just a little "swank," while the great aristocrat, Cadillac, appeals to those who will be satisfied with nothing less than the world's finest automobile.

Another important feature of the Wilson & Cabeldu complete service organization is the extensive paint and body shop which occupies another entire building within a block of the executive offices. Here the very smartest decorative painting is done under ideal conditions by men thoroughly trained in factory specification methods. And recently the greatest possible recognition was afforded the firm's mechanical standing in their appointment locally as representatives for the nationally famous United Motors Service. This franchise is only given to selected firms who have proven their sincerity in serving the public and whose premises and equipment fully measure up to the exacting United Motors standards. And it should be noted also that all these various services are available to Up-Island motorists through the very complete Wilson & Cabeldu establishment at Duncan.

NEW CAR BUYERS HELP CANADA'S WAR EFFORT

The great General Motors Plants of Canada that are producing the wonderful new Oldsmobile and Chevrolet Cars are the same plants that are turning out thousands of mechanized units for the Canadian and British military and air forces, trucks, tractors, gun carriages, shells, all are being turned out in daily increasing quantities by the various General Motors Plants at Oshawa and other points and it is interesting to note the economic relationship between war and civil vehicle production. It is a recognized fact in all manufacturing that volume is necessary to economical production and so it is easily understood that every new car produced and sold helps to reduce the cost to our Government of war supplies from the same source. Business must go on, and to curtail automobile buying would be as crippling to our National War Effort as to curtail any other normal business activity.

MEANING OF FAMOUS SIGN

Throughout Canada and the United States this familiar sign has a very definite and a very reassuring meaning to the motoring public. United Motors Service is a nationwide organization to provide the motorist a specialized service by trained experts through the use of the most up-to-date scientific and precision equipment. Only those establishments able and willing to invest in such equipment are given the United Motors Service Franchise, and such establishments are regularly checked to insure a continuation of the required high standards. Motor analysis, exhaust diagnosis, brake testing, electrical checking, are all carried out by equipment that positively precludes guess work and clearly demonstrates to the motorist the conditions prevailing before the application of the cure. It is with a full sense of their responsibility to United Motors Service and the motoring public of the Island that Wilson & Cabeldu display this famous sign.

SPLENDID USED CAR SHOWING

Greater sales of New Cars mean an ever-increasing number of Used Cars for disposal. And his Used Car problem has been the downfall of many an otherwise successful Auto Dealer. But at Wilson & Cabeldu their success in building up a satisfied used car clientele has gone hand in hand with their success in selling New Cars. And the secret lies in their thorough plan of Reconditioning. The same splendid equipment and trained men who service the new car buyer are responsible for the complete renovation of Wilson & Cabeldu Used Cars. It will continue to be true that "No one can buy a Used Car on the Wilson & Cabeldu plan without complete satisfaction." And with sales of Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Cadillac it is obvious that the firm will get the pick of the used cars from a very wide market.

CADILLAC; WORLD'S FINEST

It is indicative of the esteem in which the Wilson & Cabeldu organization is held at General Motors, that they should be entrusted with the Sale and Service of the World's Finest Car. And it is amazing that even to former Cadillac perfection it has been possible this year to add four major new improvements—improvements which alone put Cadillac beyond comparison with any other 1941 car. And in addition to these four outstanding improvements there are actually 1,100 other real improvements. Here are the four outstanding advances offered in the 1941 Cadillac—Dynamic New Beauty, Incomparable Luxury, Increased Performance and Unbelievable Economy. Cadillac has long been recognized as "Standard of the World"—its crest the symbol of a proud tradition and it is not too much to say that the Cadillac for 1941 has no counterpart in all the World.

WILSON & CABELDU RUNS FIRST AUTO BEAUTY CLINIC

In spite of the attraction and temptation of glittering new Chevrolets, Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs, not everyone can afford a new car. And Wilson & Cabeldu can serve these also. In the old days the cure for a rather shabby looking car was what was commonly called a "Paint Job" and some such jobs were pretty awful, especially when the ambitious owner undertook the Beauty Treatment himself. But today any owner can go to the Auto Beauty Clinic at the Wilson & Cabeldu Centre and his car will undergo a metamorphosis so complete that its owner won't know it. Painting is done to the best factory specifications with the latest application equipment, under ideal conditions and in room temperature that insures drying at exactly the correct rate. The new two-tone effects are much in demand and even brand new cars have been treated to meet owners' ideas and with complete satisfaction. And it should be noted that this new and better method of painting often costs no more than the old-style, short-lived "Paint Job."

MANY NEW FEATURES OF THE GREAT NEW 1941 CHEVROLET

Generous dimensional increase all around, resulting in greater roominess, stability and riding comfort are among the new features of the Chevrolet line of passenger cars for 1941, as announced today by General Motors Products of Canada.

Front and rear seat width, elbow and shoulder room, wheelbase and bumper-to-bumper length, all have been noticeably increased, while lower frame and body-floor complete the impression of low-slung strength and centre of gravity. This trend is further heightened by new and massive bumpers and an entirely re-designed front end, which will make Chevrolet for 1941 one of the most distinctive cars on the road.

Two series—the Master De Luxe and Special De Luxe—comprise the Chevrolet line for the coming year. The two series are similar in size and general appearance, the difference being mainly a matter of luxury appointments and special accessories. The new models are now in full production at the General Motors plants in Oshawa and Regina, and will shortly be on display at dealers' showrooms across Canada.

Concealing of the running-boards under each door so that their function is preserved while the body contours are enhanced, is one of the features of the new styling. The fenders are larger and heavier, and their low-hanging edges conceal more of the tires, while the valleys in the front fenders are completely eliminated. The slope is increased in windshield and rear windows. The hood is again of the front-opening type, but the safety latching lever is re-located, making it more theft-proof.

Usable trunk space is increased by placing the spare tire in a vertical fore-and-aft position, and also by the provision of greater width between the wheel housings. Interior refinements include, in addition to the wider seats, an entirely new and striking instrument panel, adjustable sun visors, two windshield defroster openings and artistic plastic control knobs.

Such popular Chevrolet features as shockproof steering, power vacuum gear-shift, on steering column, and Safe-T hydraulic brakes are continued. The power plant is the famous Chevrolet valve-in-head six-cylinder engine, generating 85 horsepower. Smooth riding qualities are imparted by double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers front and rear, ride stabiliser, and semi-elliptic rear springs with tapered leaf ends. Knee action is provided on both series.

The Special De Luxe is available in sport sedan, town sedan, five-passenger coupe, business coupe, cabriolet (with automatic vacuum-operated folding top) and station wagon, while the Master De Luxe is offered in the sport sedan, town sedan, five-passenger coupe and business coupe. In both series, the following color options are offered: Solid colors—Black, Oshawa Blue, Rex Maroon, Pearl Grey, Rufe Green, Loch Green, Indra Blue and Penguin Grey; and the following two-tone combinations—Penguin Grey and Indra Blue, Pearl Grey and Penguin Grey, Sand Beige and Nottingham Grey.

WELL-KNOWN FIRM SHOWS NEW MODELS OF POPULAR AUTO

Wilson & Cabeldu, Limited, Receive Appointment as Oldsmobile Dealers—Line Presented in Three Series—Wide Choice of Colors Offered—Many Improvements Noted

THE new 1941 Oldsmobile, now on display in Victoria, is presented to the public from the showrooms of Wilson & Cabeldu, Limited, newly appointed Victoria dealers. This latest acquisition to their offerings rounds out their display to include automobiles designed to meet every motoring need.

With the widest array in its 61 1/2 inches, 2 1/2 inches wider than on the 1940 models, provides greater width in the rear seats—an important comfort factor.

FINE INTERIORS

Matching the exterior beauty of the new cars, the interiors of the all-steel Fisher bodies reveal new luxury and convenience down to the last detail. A particularly handsome new instrument panel is featured this year. Instrument dials are symmetrically grouped and are readily visible from the driver's seat, while heavy horizontal chrome bars encase the radio installation. Throughout, hardware combines the use of chrome and colorful plastic. Three options in upholstery material are offered, while the new type of spring construction in the seats assures the maximum comfort.

NEW REFINEMENTS

Important and proven mechanical improvements of recent years have been refined and incorporated along with scores of new advancements in the new 1941 models. Inspection reveals increased roominess, greater comfort and the striking beauty of the sweeping contours. The long, low arching sweep from windshield to rear bumper suggests speed, grace and dignity.

The entire front end design is rendered more effective and attractive by the use of heavier chrome bars and grille work, while sparkling metal speed lines carry back along the fenders and follow the body moulding at the line of the door handles. Stainless steel also sparkles round the windows and accentuates another feature—the concealed running boards. Only when the car doors are open are these new running boards visible, the bottom of the doors curving down and out in a graceful sweep to hide them. Not only is this feature designed to facilitate entry and exit, but an added advantage is that these boards are covered when the doors are closed and consequently will not collect snow or ice.

BUMPER DESIGN

Careful attention has been given also to the design of the bumpers which are now an integral part of the car, streamlined into the curves of the body and fenders. While providing the maximum protection against traffic mishaps, these bumpers also create an immediate impression of sturdiness and security.

Blending into the body like the folded wings of a bird, the new front fenders, known as the "wing-type," represent an important contribution to the stately all-round appearance of the new Oldsmobiles, for they have lost all semblance of separate units.

The roominess of the new cars is more than an impression, according to engineers, who point out that the new models are definitely larger. The Special series has been increased by a full six inches in over-all length, being now 204 inches, while the wheelbase has been extended to 119 inches. The Dynamic Cruiser has been brought up to equal the 125-inch wheelbase of the Custom Cruiser, with an over-all length of 213 inches. On all models the widened rear tread

Striking New 1941 Oldsmobile

Acclaimed as the finest cars presented in Oldsmobile's forty-three years of progress, the 1941 models, announced in three new series, feature the Special, Dynamic Cruiser and Custom Cruiser. These striking cars incorporate many advancements in engineering and design, including the sensational Hydra-Matic Drive, which this year is available on all series and models. Illustrated above is the low-priced Special Series 4-door sedan.

MINIMUM PRICE SET FOR WHEAT

Argentina Has Large Crop And Big Surplus Available For Export

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 21 (AP).—Argentina has decreed minimum prices for wheat and linseed, effective immediately, and authorized the Official Grain Board to buy grain from producers beginning December 1 as a means of offsetting a sharp drop in prices expected when the new bumper wheat crop begins to reach the market in December.

The Government fixed the price at 6.65 pesos per 100 kilograms of wheat and 9.25 pesos per 100 kilograms of linseed.

(The peso was quoted today in New York at 23.55 cents. One hundred kilograms equal 220.46 pounds. On that basis the wheat would be priced at about 43 cents a bushel.) Private estimates predict the new wheat crop will reach the huge total of 8,000,000 or 9,000,000 tons, while the normal domestic needs aggregate only 2,000,000 tons. That would leave from 6,000,000 to 7,000,000 tons for export.

The decree stipulated the Grain Board may sell any wheat needed by mills at a price of 9 pesos per 100 kilograms, which would mean the board could pocket the difference of 2.35 pesos per 100 kilograms.

Reasons for the difference were not given in the decree, but some observers said the board thus would help repay its losses incurred through purchase of a great corn crop this year which was not marketable.

SAYS CITY HOLDS A KEY POSITION

George M. Murray, M.P.P., Emphasizes Importance of Ports to British Empire

Victoria today was one of the key cities of the world, George M. Murray, M.P.P. from Lilloet, said during the course of a talk to the Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel yesterday. The speaker emphasized the importance of such ports as Victoria and Vancouver in helping the Empire on to victory.

The British Empire, he said, would not suffer a fatal blow if the Italians happened to effect a complete blockade of the Mediterranean, for commerce with the East could be carried out through Canada's ports.

Mr. Murray also discussed the work of the legislative committee, referring principally to the mining and agricultural groups. Hundreds of millions of dollars would be invested in a smelter in the province within a reasonable time, he said, and would result in an enormous payroll. Home Industries had to be developed if this province was to be a bulwark of the British Empire, the speaker stated.

Mr. Murray was introduced by George E. Macdonald and thanked by the president, G. A. Yardley.

Mother: "Willie, I heard that instead of going to Sunday school this morning you played football."

Willie: "That isn't true—and I've got a string of fish to prove it."

CAR NEWS FOR 1941!

OLDSMOBILE'S NEW SIXES AND EIGHTS

Illustrated—Special Four-Door Sedan

According to Culbertson

If bridge players would master one single department of play, the percentage of fulfilled contracts would increase by leaps and bounds. I refer to the department of safety plays. This is by all odds the least understood and appreciated phase of bridge. Why, I can't say. There is nothing abstruse, nor even greatly complicated, about safety plays. Indeed, experts find them fascinating. And a thorough knowledge of these plays prevents the sort of tragedy that overtook the declarer in the following deal:

Rubber bridge.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:
North East South West
1 N.T. Pass 3 Pass
4 Pass Pass Pass
West opened the club queen. The king was smothered by East and declarer ruffed the club return. Declarer's problem was now clear cut: A heart loser would be unavoidable, hence it was vital to hold the defenders to one trump trick. With ten trumps in the combined hands, this looked easy. Declarer flipped out his spade ace, and the sound contract folded its tent and stole away. The defenders gleefully collected two trumps and a heart trick.

Granting that declarer ran into a bad trump break, there was absolutely no excuse for the loss of this contract. It was impossible to lose two trump tricks, if the proper play had been used.

After ruffing East's club return, declarer should enter dummy and lead a low trump toward his own hand. If East follows suit, that is proof that West cannot hold the three missing trumps. But East may hold them and to cover that possibility, declarer must play the ten on East's nine. If West wins with the jack, what of it? The suit has now been found to break, and declarer's ace must drop the king, which is now the only outstanding trump.

If, on the low trump lead from dummy, East shows out, declarer naturally puts up the ace and leads back toward the queen, trapping West's jack.

Most safety plays merely increase the chances of success. This one guaranteed success.

RED WINGS WIN
DETROIT, Nov. 21 (CP).—A second-period goal by Gus Giesebrecht broke a 1-1 deadlock and gave Detroit Red Wings a 2-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens in a National Hockey League game here tonight before a crowd of 10,464.

Sparkling play in the nets by Johnny Mowers, Red Wings' rookie goalie, kept the collar-dwelling Canadiens in check except for a goal by Tony Demers near the end of the first period.

Detroit had opened the scoring when, with left-winger Archie Wilder in the penalty box, Mud Bruneteau dashed nearly the length of the rink to drill the puck past goalie Bert Gardiner, a play that goalie Jack Stewart and Jimmy O'Flaherty drew assistance.

Canadiens were short-handed when the Red Wings scored what proved to be the winning goal midway in the second period. Ken Reardon was penalized for tripping Joe Carveth, and the Red Wings opened up on power plays and went to the front on Giesebrecht's goal, with Eddie Goodfellow and Alex Motter assisting.

A few minutes later Canadiens had a chance to tie it up when Bruneteau tripped Reardon, and they were awarded a penalty shot. Demers try went wide of the net.

Kenny Kilrea, Red Wing center, was cut on the leg late in second-period melee, and nine stitches were required to close the wound.

Before the game, Goodfellow was awarded the Dr. David A. Hart Trophy, given annually to the player considered most valuable to his team. Frank Calder, league president, made the presentation.

BRUINS TRIUMPH
CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP).—Boston Bruins won their first game of the National Hockey League season tonight, defeating Chicago Black Hawks, 2-0, before 15,487 fans at the Stadium.

The Bruins, who in five previous starts could do no better than three defeats and two ties, captured their initial victory on second and third-period goals.

Herbie Cain put Boston ahead after 7:32 of the second stanza and Boston's second goal came in the final minutes of the last period, Mel Hill scoring in a quick dash that broke up a Chicago drive.

PURCELL WILL APPEAR HERE NEXT MONDAY

World's Professional Badminton Champion to Meet Johnny Samis

JACK PURCELL

Badminton fans are promised a great shuttle show on Monday evening at the Main Building, Willow Exhibition Grounds, when the Lower Vancouver Island Badminton League will present Jack Purcell, Canadian racket ace and world's professional champion, in a series of exhibition matches.

Appearance of Purcell will, of course, be the highlight, but in order to make the exhibition especially attractive members of the local committee decided to reach across the gulf waters to Vancouver for Johnny Samis, British Columbia's ace shuttler. The young Mainlander will oppose the world's champion in the singles and will team up with Duncan's Eric Loney in the men's doubles to play Purcell and George Lane.

Mixed and women's doubles were added to the programme yesterday. In the latter event Miss P. Sluggitt and Mrs. R. Knott, Brentwood Badminton Club pair and Island champions for a number of years, will oppose Miss Barbara Beaumont and Miss Joyce Carrier, their clubmates. The mixed doubles line-up has not been definitely decided upon, but it is practically certain that Miss Joyce Thompson, long queen of city shuttle court, and Don Davis, well-known local netter, will see action.

The programme is one of high standard and brings together a world's professional champion and some of Canada's outstanding amateur shuttlers. The show will open at 8 o'clock.

Net proceeds from the exhibitions will go to the Canadian Red Cross. Tickets for the event are moving exceptionally well and may be purchased at Hocking & Forbes, Douglas Street.

ARGOS TRAINING
TORONTO, Nov. 21 (CP).—Lew Hayman sent Toronto Argonauts through a brief daylight practice behind closed doors today, calling it short and expressing disappointment with the way the team was going.

Eleven points behind in their Inter-Provincial Union play-off against Ottawa Rough Riders, Argos stressed offensive tactics in the rain at Varsity Stadium.

JACK PURCELL STARTS TOUR

World's Badminton Champion Wins All Matches At Edmonton

EDMONTON, Nov. 21 (CP).—Jack Purcell, of Toronto, Canadian professional badminton champion, scored four match victories at the Edmonton Club tonight in exhibition games arranged by the Canadian Badminton Association to aid the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Purcell's stiffest struggle came in a singles match against George Roberts of Edmonton, a former Alberta champion. After Purcell took the first game 15-8, Roberts came back to lead 5-0 and 11-8 in the second before the pro champion bore down to triumph 15-11.

Purcell, bothered somewhat by an old leg injury, paired with Bill Bell to defeat Jack Wallis, Edmonton Club professional, and Harry Baker 15-12, 15-7. Then with Wallis as his partner, Purcell hung up his third triumph, 15-5, 15-4 over Baker and Roberts.

In the mixed doubles Purcell and Barbara Mitchell, Alberta singles champion, defeated Lyle Hoar and Louis Marshall, 15-10, 15-6.

More than 225 spectators attended.

SOCCER LINE-UPS

Line-ups for tomorrow afternoon's league soccer matches follow:
Victoria West—T. Restell, Murray, Bell, Cooper, Hess, Pura, Popham, Munroe, Perkins, Travis, Carlow, Robinson, Patterson, C. Restell, J. Okell and R. Okell.

Saanich Thistles—W. Robbins, Underwood, Hunt, J. Robbins, Magall, Greene, Harris, Barr, Anderson, Hayward, Harper, Speller and Williams.

GREG RICE TRIUMPHS
CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP).—Greg Rice, the United States' outstanding distance running star, won the sixth annual Central A.A.U. Thanksgiving Day cross country run today in the meet record time of 15:13 for the three-mile 168-yard course in Jackson Park.

The former Notre Dame ace, competing for the South Bend (Ind.) A.A. club, clocked twenty-four seconds off the former mark established by Mel Trutt, of Indiana University, in 1938. Lenover, of Loyola University, last year's winner, was second.

BERT JANKE NOW WITH CANADIENS

MONTREAL, Nov. 21 (CP).—Officials of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League announced today they have acquired Bert Janke, twenty-two-year-old defenseman of Montreal Royals in the Quebec Senior Hockey League, from Detroit Red Wings reserve list at the waiver price of approximately $5,000.

Janke, who played with St. Boniface Seals when they won the Memorial Cup in 1938, is expected to sign a contract with Canadiens and see action this Saturday.

MELROSE, AGES WIN FIXTURES

Mark Up Impressive Triumphs in Table Tennis Association Matches

Melrose and Ages registered victories in association fixtures played last night at the Strathcona Hotel, local headquarters. Paintmen defeated Four Jacks, 23-13, and Aces turned back Spencers, 20-16.

R. Peebles paced Melrose to their victory over the Jacks by making a clean sweep in his singles. W. McGregor, team captain, was next in line with five singles triumphs. Doug Hawkes was top scorer for the losers with six points.

V. Martin and T. Kay led the Aces to their impressive triumph over the Spencers, each scoring six decisions in the singles. Kay Elston won five of her eight singles and was top player for Spencers.

Individual scores follow:
Melrose—(singles): W. McGregor 3, R. Ricketts 4, S. Lock 2, R. Peebles 5; (doubles): W. McGregor and R. Ricketts 2, S. Lock and R. Peebles 2, total 23.

Sharpshooting Cager Will See Action

BEN ACREMAN

HIGH-SCORING young forward of the Victoria Dominions, undefeated leader in the senior "A" men's division of the city basketball league, who will be in uniform tomorrow at the Sports Centre, when the former Canadian champions meet the S. L. Savidge team of Seattle, in the season's inaugural international hoop attraction. Acreman has been top scorer for the Dominions in their two earlier exhibitions this season, and tomorrow he will be out to garner a few points at the expense of the smart Sound City hoopers. Their line-up composed of former university and college ball players. Savidges are without question one of the best cage squads yet to be booked this season for fixtures at the Victoria Sports Centre. The international attraction will be the highlight of the three-game card and will get under way shortly after 8 o'clock. Y.M.C.A. and K.V.'s junior boys, meet in the curtain raiser at 7 o'clock. West Road and K.V.'s senior "A" men's squads, play in the second contest.

These were yesterday's developments:
The C.R.U. it was learned is conducting a wire poll of its officials to determine whether to grant recognition to an East-West play-off in aid of war services organizations, as proposed by Controller Fred Hamilton, of Toronto, president of the Sports Service League.

James McCaffrey, business manager of the Riders, said his club would not play the game even if it had the sanction of the C.R.U., but only if it was arranged by the union, a phase Union President John Banerman, of Calgary, refused to comment on.

Controller Hamilton said it would be "a great idea" if the C.R.U. took over the game and carried out the plan to divide the game between Western and Eastern war services organizations. "The main thing is that this game is an opportunity to supply about $10,000 to buy sports equipment for Canadian troops," he said.

Joe Ryan, Winnipeg Blue Bomber manager, charged the Ottawa attitude was an about-face, which McCaffrey denied, and said "It would appear evident the Riders are not willing to play except on the usual financial basis," a statement which was not clarified at any source.

Secretary R. W. Hewitson, of the C.R.U., said the union would meet at Toronto during the week-end, when, he added, the question of union recognition of the game would be decided if the matter were brought up before the meeting. It has been called to arrange details of venue and officials for the Eastern final.

The Baimy Beach attitude about playing the West if they win out appeared to be as clear-cut as Ottawa's, but directly opposite. Floyd Mulreath, the team's sponsor, had said the Beaches will play for the Sports Service League.

East-West Clash For Grid Honors Remains in Dark

Canadian Football Play-Off for National Title Remains Doubtful—Ottawa Not Interested Unless Arranged by Union—May Benefit Canadian Troops With $10,000

BY SYDNEY GRUBSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Prospects for an East-West football clash this season were narrowed considerably yesterday when, in a fresh outpouring of words on the proposed game, Ottawa Rough Riders were declared flatly as not interested unless it was arranged by the Canadian Rugby Union.

At the end of the day, when all the statements had been gathered, it appeared that if the game is to be played, Toronto Baimy Beach had better win the Eastern football championship. In most Eastern football quarters, their chances are considered slim against the Rough Riders.

The Western Conference's decision to abide by its ten-year interconference, against the three yards allowed by the C.R.U., foreshadowed the end of competition for the national championship, held at present by the Blue Bombers.

No one bothered to ask Toronto Argonauts or Sarnia Battery under what conditions they would play against the West. Toronto Argonauts and Sarnia could upset the whole apparent all over again and start a new series of negotiations by overcoming the deficits they face in the Inter-Provincial and Ontario Union play-offs Saturday.

PRISONERS OF WAR GIVEN DECORATIONS

LONDON, Nov. 21 (CP).—Flying Officer G. E. Walker of Gleichen, Alta, and Pilot Officer H. P. Clark of Brandon, Man., both prisoners of war, have been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

Walker, whose brother, Pilot Officer J. A. Walker, won the D.F.C. in September, and Clark were given the awards "for persistent good work over a period of time."

VISITS OFFICE HERE

Edward E. Reid, vice-president and managing director of the London Life Insurance Company, accompanied by J. G. Stephenson, assistant general manager of the firm, visited the local offices here on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

An annual trip, Mr. Reid discussed business problems pertinent to the firm here. On his trip back to London, the officials will visit other offices across Canada.

CHAPTER XXII

Jean did not actively dislike Mrs. Wallace, but she longed to be alone, to set her mind in order, and to think what she would do next.

Always calm and clear-headed, this situation found her unprepared, and that, to her, argued weakness of intellect and deeply annoyed her.

But she rose to the occasion, and as Miss Wallace came along and she knew he would be facetious even in such a dark hour, she braced herself to meet it.

And sure enough his heavy bass voice rumbled what was almost a joke.

"I told you so," he said, "I warned you that anyone who decked his walls with a trophy or panoply of whatever you call the damned thing, was just inviting his own murder! That's what I said! And I said, too, that all this William Tell complex would lead to mischief. Oh, yes, I know my wife goes in for it, but I'll without my approval. Yes, without my approval or sanction."

"Barbara is one of our experts," Jean said, being unable to think of anything else to say. Then she pulled herself together. "But, Mr. Wallace," she went on, "Vivian wasn't killed because there were fells on the wall. All fences use such decorations, and people who are not fences, too."

"Yes, my dear, yes. Ah, who is coming?"

Dr. Gregg came toward Jean, and ignoring the guests, he introduced Dr. Peterson, the Medical Examiner. Peterson was a large, determined looking man, and he addressed Jean, turning neither to right or left as he talked.

"I think, Mrs. Forrest, I will remove your husband to his bedroom for examination. It is more than likely we must have an autopsy, but that will be done after he is taken away. I will not ask many questions. The District Attorney will do that. I have your permission to act?"

His manner was brusque, and he showed no hint of grief or sympathy. But Jean was glad of that. Sympathy from strangers always annoyed her, and she answered the man in his own vein.

"Certainly, Doctor Peterson. My brother-in-law will be glad to assist you, and my servants will do your bidding. I should like to be kept informed as to your findings."

"Yes, Mrs. Forrest."

He went away and Jean looked up to see Brandon Sayre at her elbow. "I want you to sit down now, and talk to no one," he said. "Soon the District Attorney will come, and we must all obey his orders. Don't wear yourself out chatting to these guests, who are of no interest to you just now."

"Yes, she said, giving him a grateful look, 'put me somewhere and give me busy and Peter for a sort of bodyguard. They will keep the others away.'"

"You see, dear," Sayre went on, "they may have to stay a day or two, whether they want to or not."

"And whether I want them or not?"

"Yes, just that. Now, remember, you are in a serious situation, and you must meet it not only with bravery but with—diplomacy."

"What do you mean?"

"I can't tell you here and now. Can't I see you alone, later on? You are your own mistress now."

"I don't see why you can't. Brandon, will it be an ordeal? Will they ask me difficult questions?"

"I fear they will, darling. And I don't see how we can meet alone this morning. But, I must say this: Don't hide anything; speak the exact truth, but don't tell them anything they don't ask. Make your answers concise and don't elaborate on the facts. You understand me, don't you?"

"Yes, and I will obey you. May I go now—to see my baby?"

"No. You must wait until the District Attorney sends you away. And, another thing: Don't talk of your little girl. Answer questions about her as briefly as you can, but don't dilate. Don't appear to be trying to win sympathy or favor."

"No, I won't. Is that the man now?"

"Yes; that's Mitchell. I know him. He's a fine man, but a peculiar one. Be courteous, Jean, but put on rather fine lady airs. He is impressed by pomp and circumstance."

"You speak as if I were in danger—"

"I don't say that, Jean, but a false alarm might make it seem that you are. Be natural, but reserved and as silent as possible."

There was a commotion as Vivian's body was carried into his bedroom. It had been covered with a large spread of Oriental embroidery,

What Today Means

SAGITTARIUS

If November 22 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., from 2:15 to 4:15 p.m. and from 8:15 to 10:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:15 to 10:15 a.m., from 6:15 to 8:15 p.m. and from 10:15 p.m. until midnight.

If November 22 is your birth anniversary, you were born under the Zodiacal sign Sagittarius, for the sun entered the sign of Sagittarius at 5:49 a.m., Eastern standard time. People born under this sign are generally a carefree, happy lot, but by no means devoid of a sense of responsibility. Generous impulses rule them, and an enterprising spirit makes them progressive and ambitious. Spiritual influences help them to strive to be honorable men and women, with high ideals. The children of Sagittarius instinctively object to being "bossed," but can be easily persuaded to do things, and are ready to respond to explanations of why they should or should not do things. Impetuous impulses are generally responsible for most of their actions and frequently get them into hot water. Thursday is usually the best week day for them to select, for the transaction of important business, social activities, or the making of important requests. The turquoise or caruncle is their birth stone, and numbered among their natural affinities are the colors of light yellow and bright blue. Married and engaged couples, as well as sweethearts, will do well to remember that carnations, chrysanthemums, jasmine and holly, are the flowers that are affinities of Sagittarians.

If a woman and November 22 is your birthday, curb any tendency you might have to be aggressive, except in business. Through foresight and careful planning you will probably make your way successfully through life. You probably believe in action rather than words, and your quickness in decisions may frequently startle your friends and close associates. A jovial nature should make you very popular, especially with young people. As an office or business manager, teacher, musician, singer, radio broadcaster, actress, writer, sales representative, artist, doctor, lawyer, or newspaper woman, your popularity and earning power should be very gratifying. Your choice of a husband is likely to be a wise one, and conducive to your future domestic happiness. The child born on November 22 is usually a frank, outspoken youngster, who can be depended on to do whatever it promises. A lively imagination may cause the children of Sagittarius to indulge in a little romancing from time to time, but allowances must be made for this. If they learn to do things in moderation and to respond to the promptings of their intuition, their future seems assured.

If a man and November 22 is your natal day, a love of outdoor sports, especially hunting or fishing, should be indulged, for the relaxation you will gain from them should make you more efficient in your work. As a photographer, astronomer, banker, lawyer, doctor, promoter, theatrical man, musician, printer, salesman, accountant, artist, or author, you should find yourself financially independent with an enviable reputation.

HERSELF EXACTLY

He (rhapsodically): "I adore everything that is grand, exquisite, super-eminent. I love the peerless, the serene, the perfect in life." She (blushing coyly): "Oh, George, how can I refuse you when you put it so beautifully?"

WILL ADVERTISE THIS PROVINCE

Preview of Travelogue Is Put on Screen in Victoria—To Be Widely Shown

Yesterday, through the courtesy of the Capitol Theatre, the opportunity was afforded members of the British Columbia Legislature and others representative of various public bodies to see the new cinecolor and sound travelogue, "Beautiful British Columbia," which has been prepared for presentation throughout the United States, Great Britain, and Canada through the Columbia Pictures Corporation.

The picture is one that cannot fail to attract attention. It is being utilized by the Department of Trade and Industry of this province through the energetic efforts of that department to show the outside world just what British Columbia has to offer.

There are many beautiful views in and about the capital (Victoria) setting out the many attractions to be found here and elsewhere on Vancouver Island. Vancouver is also made to play an important part in the views and attention is given to other centres, including Prince Rupert. In addition, the scenery to be viewed along the roads of the province are given a place, the whole making up a most alluring collection of views setting out the advantages of a trip throughout the province.
